Two alleged incidents lead to high-speed chases in DuPage County

DuPage County State's Attorney Robert Berlin and Warrenville Chief of Police Sam Bonilla have announced that bond has been set for a Chicago woman accused of leading police on a high-speed chase.

Camille Rouse, 31, appeared before Judge Daniel Guerin who set bond at $10,000, although the state had asked for a bond in the amount of $100,000 for Rouse.

Rouse is charged with one count of aggravated fleeing and eluding a police officer (Class 4 felony) and multiple misdemeanor and petty driving offenses.

On Tuesday, April 4 at approximately 7:28 p.m., a Warrenville police officer conducted a traffic stop on a vehicle, later determined to be driven by Rouse, for allegedly speeding on Butterfield Road near Route 59. As the officer approached the vehicle on foot, the car allegedly drove away southbound on Route 59.

The officer returned to his squad car, activated lights and sirens and initiated pursuit, which, at times, allegedly reached speeds in excess of 80

DAN ROGERS, 80

Dan Rogers, 80, died peacefully at home surrounded by his wife and children on March 23, 2023, after a long illness. Born on Dec. 11, 1942, in Chicago, Illinois, Dan was the eldest son of Norman and Margaret Rogers. Dan and his wife Carol made their home in Villa Park for 57 years where they raised their four children, a handful of good dogs, and one bad one.

Dan cared deeply about the town he lived in for so long. He watched it change and grow since childhood, growing up in neighboring Elmhurst and graduating in Willowbrook High School's first Senior class. Serving as a volunteer firefighter was an early source of pride; Dan was a member of the Villa Park Fire Department until the volunteer force was phased out.

As the kids started leaving home, Dan started raising flowers. He found great joy in the garden, and took pride in the award-winning and traffic-stopping landscape that he and Carol nurtured so carefully. He spent countless hours tending to and perfecting his awesome display. He enjoyed visiting with passers-by stopping to 'talk shop,' and inspiring people and gardens throughout the area with his green thumb. Dan's spring garden is now bursting forth, both in the early bloomers on Washington Street and the ever-growing, ever-loving family he leaves behind.

Dan was a passionate craftsman who loved working with his hands. He was highly skilled in multiple trades, working for years as a local contractor. His experience and expertise led him to corporate construction project management, an arena in which he shone. He understood how things fit together and worked to the highest standard throughout his career. With retirement, Dan always had a few irons in the fire around their historic home - a home he literally knew inside out.

Dan's end of life suffering was regrettably long and hard, and Carol's care was heroic and inspirational throughout. As his body failed him, he missed some simple pleasures the most - visiting his kids and their families, time in the garden, home carpentry projects, and smoking Camels on the deck with a cup of coffee. To honor Dan's wishes, his family and hospice team were able to bring him home where he was a spent his final days.

Dan is survived by his wife of 57 years, Carol (Miene); Son, Chris (Kristen) of Portland, OR; Daughter, Jodi (Bob) Rogers-Reichensperger Tower, MN and Dana (Chris) R. Diamond of Brooklyn NY; Daughter-in-law, Karen Sokol of Burlington VT; Brothers, James (Patty) Rogers Sam Rogers, and Charles Roger and many nieces and nephews. He is also survived by 12 grandchildren and 8 great-grandchildren. He is preceded in death by his parents sister, Elizabeth Benedetto, and son Michael Rogers.

The family would like to host celebration of life later this summer per Dan's wishes.

Advocates push for tax credit aimed at increasing affordable housing

Would cost state $35 million annually for 10 years

By Nika Schoonover
CAPITOL NEWS ILLINOIS

Lawmakers are considering bills that would create a new tax credit for affordable housing, referred to as the "Build Illinois Homes Tax Credit."

The legislation, contained in the identical House Bill 2044 and Senate Bill 1737, would mirror a federal program administered by the Illinois Housing Development Authority and Chicago Department of Housing which helps finance affordable housing across Illinois.

The Illinois Housing Council, a non-profit membership association consisting of over 260 businesses and non-profits, has been advocating for the measure's passage.

"Our state is facing an affordable housing crisis, stemming from years of housing under-production," Allison Clements, executive director of IHC, testified in a Senate committee.

"Our state's housing deficit has grown 64 percent since 2012, meaning we have more people needing homes than are available."

A 2023 IHC report showed Illinois still has a deficit of low-income housing despite the federal program.

According to the report, Illinois has lost 13 percent of its low-rent units since 2011. Additionally, while there are more than 450,000 extremely low-income renters in Illinois, there are only about 150,000 affordable and available rental units, creating a deficit of about 288,000.

"The dollars have actually filled a critical need but they are only a short-term solution to build affordable housing in Illinois," Rep. Dagmara Avelar, a Democrat from Bolingbrook and lead sponsor on HB 2044, said in a House committee hearing March 23. "The long-term, permanent solution is a state tax credit, the Build Illinois Homes Tax Credit that can sustain affordable housing construction over the next 10 years."

If passed, the Build Illinois credit would cost the state $35 million annually for 10 years, which advocates say would help increase the number of housing units by 3,500 each year. Once investors construct the housing developments, they would be eligible for an income tax credit based on the development area.

Clements emphasized that the state tax credit would only be issued after the construction of a unit is complete and qualified tenants are moved in.

"Private sector investors, not taxpayers, are going to bear the financial risk of a project not being completed or successful and they closely monitor and oversee each development where these credits are involved," Clements said in the House committee.

"Because the state tax credit is not claimed by an investor until the affordable housing is successfully built and completed, passing this state tax credit this year would not result in any budget impacts to the state until 2026."

According to the IHC report, over 20 states currently use credits to attract private equity building more affordable housing. Lawmakers in Kentucky and are also considering measures to enact such programs.

Gov. JB Pritzker proposed additional funds for housing in his get address. The program, referred to as "Home Illinois," would provide for a $50 million increase in homelessness services, including emergency shelter, short-term rental assistance and the development of new permanent supportive housing units. If implemented, "Home Illinois" would bring total funding in that area to $100 million.

In his budget address on March 15, the governor estimated that 120,000 people experience homelessness annually and over 700,000 children live in overcrowded shared housing.
